I am not a Microsoft supporter but I find it utterly ridiculous that this case has gone on and on and on. Just when I think the DOJ already judged on the subject another month or years is added to the case. It seems to me that the Microsoft competitors are complaining the loudest and expect the government to help them out when they should be out there competing. The sooner this case is closed the better off we and the econmy will be. You must see that the competitors of Mlicrosoft are trying to discredit your decesion. Don't let them do it. If you alter your decision, what will the american public think of the judicial system? If I were Mlicrosoft, I'd move to Canada or some other country. They would more than welcome me.
